The following description and particulars of the Church of All Hallows, Bread Street, have been compiled by E. J. Trustram, Esq., M.A., Vestry Clerk and Clerk to the Trustees of the united Parishes of St. Mary-le-Bow, St. Pancras-le-Soper, All Hallows, Honey Lane, All Hallows, Bread Street, and St. John the Evangelist:—

ALL HALLOWS, BREAD STREET.

The Church was situated on the east side of Bread Street where it crosses Watling Street, and is one of the many London Churches dedicated to All Saints. It is evidently of ancient foundation, although the date of building is unknown, but we find in the old Husting Rolls of 1275 that John Le Minour left to Hugh de Biflete rent of houses in the Parish of All Hallows de Bredestrate, so it must have existed before that date.

It was in the patronage of the Prior and Canons of Christ Church, Canterbury, till 1365, when the right of presentation was assigned by them to their Archbishop, Simon Islip, and his successors, and it became one of the thirteen 'Peculiars' of the Archbishop of Canterbury. Of the building itself before the Fire in 1666 little is known, but Strype (1643—1737) remarks that after the fire it was built up again without any pillars, which may infer that the original building was constructed with them and probably divided into aisles.

We also know that it had a tower and spire, for in 1559 during a great storm in October the spire was struck by lightning, causing a stone to fall which killed a dog and injured a man; and although the damage to the spire was not very great, it was taken down to save the expense of repairs. On the south side of the Chancel was a small Chapel called the Salters, which was founded by Thomas Beaumont, Alderman and one of the Sheriffs in 1442, and died in 1457. A window bearing his figure was erected in the Chapel with this inscription:—

Thomas Beaumont, Salter, the Founder of this Chapel and a worthy benefactor to the Company of Salters, 1629.

The vestry room of the later Church was probably built on the site of the Chapel.

In 1531 two priests quarrelled in the Church and one was wounded, therefore the services of the Church were suspended for a month, and as penance the priests had to head a procession from St. Paul's through Cheapside to Cornhill bareheaded, barefooted, and barelegged, with their books and beads in their hands.

Lawrence Saunders, the Martyr, was made Rector of this Parish in 1553 by Cranmer. He was a strong supporter of the Reformation, and for the zeal with which he preached against popery in this Church and in his Parish of Church Langton in Leicestershire after the accession of Mary he was arrested, imprisoned for fifteen months, and then burnt at Coventry February 8th, 1555. This is by some supposed to be the origin of the phrase 'sent to Coventry,' but it is only right to state that there are several other putative reasons for the phrase. In the vestry room of the later Church a monumental tablet was inscribed to his memory.

There was a tablet erected in the Church to Richard Stock, who died in 1626, with the inscription:—

To the sacred memory of that worthy and faithful minister of Christ, Master Richard Stock, who after 32 years spent in the ministry, wherein by his learned labours, joined with wisdom and a most holy life, God's Glory was much advanced, his Church edified, piety increased, and the true honour of a Pastor's life maintained. Deceased—April 20, 1626. Some of his loving parishioners have consecrated this monument of their never dying love. January 28, 1628.

Some other interesting monuments in the old Church were to:—

James Thame, Goldsmith.

John Walpole, 1349.

Thomas Beaumont, Alderman and one of the Sheriffs, 1442.

Robert Baffet, Salter, Mayor, 1476.

Sir Richard Channy, Salter, Mayor, 1509.

Sir Thos. Pagiter, Salter, Mayor, 1530.

Henry Sucley [Suckley], Merchant Taylor, one of the Sheriffs, 1541.

Richard Read, Alderman that served and was taken prisoner in Scotland, 1545. [? Buried 30 Nov. 1550. Reg., p. 157.—Ed.]

Robert House, one of the Sheriffs, 1586.

Will. Albany, Richard May, and Roger Abde, Merchant Taylors.

Robert Mellishe,* citizen and Merchant Taylor, 1562.

Henry Suckley, Sheriff and Merchant Taylor, 1564.

Master J. Dunster, citizen and Clothworker, who gave £200 to the late building of this Church and £200 which has purchased £12 a year for ever towards the reparation of the same. Had departed this life 14 Oct. 1625.

The monuments in the later Church after the Fire were to:—

Jeremy Gouge [? Goffe.—Ed.], citizen and Grocer, 1692, and two of his children, both Jeremy.

Arthur Baron, Esq. A worthy member of many societies, 1702, and his nephew Alex. Baron, 1703.

Chris. Raynor and Frances his wife.

Humphrey Levins, citizen and Grocer, 1682, and his son Humphrey, 1677.

Mary Conant, Haberdasher, 1698.

* He was of a Yorkshire family, and some of his descendants were residents at Sanderstead in Surrey, in which Church many tombs exist.—Ed.

Rebecca, wife of Mr. J. Young of this Parish, 1715.
Richard Chase, citizen and Grocer, 1708.
Richard Bagnal, Esq., Salter, of London, 1702.
Richard Bagnal, son of above, 1704.

But All Hallows is famed for its connection with a man infinitely greater than any of these good citizens. In 1608 at the 'Spread Eagle' in Bread Street was born John Milton, that greatest of poets, and it was in this little Church that he was baptized.* His father was a scrivener in Bread Street. The monument to his memory, which was outside All Hallows, has been removed to the west wall of St. Mary-le-Bow Church, and another tablet to him in terra-cotta with his bust in bas relief marks the position in Bread Street in which the Church formerly stood.

The old Church was destroyed by the Great Fire in 1666, and the new Church, begun in 1680 under the direction of Sir Christopher Wren, was completed in 1683-4, at a cost of £3348 7*s.* 2*d.* At the time Wren designed this Church he was engaged with many buildings of great importance, and evidently did not devote so much attention to this Church as was necessary, and indeed the edifice had very little architectural beauty. It was a parallelogram 75 ft. by 35 ft., and was practically unornamented. It was lighted by windows at the sides, and had a tower 86 ft. high, the upper part of which was the best feature of the building, being particularly light and well designed. The festoons of flowers above the belfry were beautifully sculptured, but the four small obelisks at the corners of the tower were thought to be too Gothic for the style of the whole.

Inside, the ceiling was slightly curved but quite plain, and in the west there was a gallery supported by a single Corinthian column, with an organ erected by subscription in 1717.

In the east was a recess with a gilded altar-piece, supposed to have been the work of Grinling Gibbons, surmounted by the Royal Arms, and under the organ was a marble font ornamented with very delicately sculptured leaves.

An oak pulpit and sounding-board were on the north wall, and opposite was a very singular gallery which projected into the Church, beneath which was the entrance to the vestry room, built, as we have said, on the site of the Salters' Chapel.

At the Fire the adjoining Parish Church of St. John the Evangelist was destroyed, and it was decided to annex that Parish to All Hallows, Bread Street, which was done by Act of Parliament two years after the building of the new Church. The Parish of All Hallows alone is 2½ acres, and now extends on the north side of Watling Street from

* See verb. et lit. entry of Baptism on p. 16.—Ed.

No. 74 to 82, and on the south side from No. 16 to 29, including the back parts of some houses in Bread Street, which street owes its name to a market for bread which was held there at an early date.

In early times the parish seems to have been well populated, and to have comprised a good many houses and shops, as references to tenements are constantly to be found in the old Husting Rolls.

The remains of all persons interred in or under the Church were carefully removed (with the exception of those remains which were claimed by relatives and removed by them for reinterment) and were reinterred in Ilford Cemetery, where a spiral monument was erected to commemorate the reinterment.

The Registers are kept in an iron safe in the Vestry of St. Mary-le-Bow, with those of the other united parishes.

Space has been saved in the printing of the Register by adopting uniformly the initial letters "s" and "d" to indicate "son" and "daughter;" and the repetition of the formulas "were baptized" or "married" or "buried" has also been avoided with a similar result.

Anything within brackets thus [ ] will be understood as explanatory interpolations by the Editor.

The thanks of the Society are due to the Rector, The Rev. Canon J. Howard B. Masterman, M.A., for his kind permission to print the Registers and for the facilities of access that he has at all times so courteously afforded to the Editor.

Thanks are also due to E. J. Trustram, Esq., for the description and short particulars of the Church, which has been compiled by him, and to Henry Brierley, Esq., of Wigan, for his compilation of the Index of Trades.

A List of the Rectors with notes thereon, extracted from Novum Repertorium Ecclesiasticum Parochiale Londinense, by the Rev. George Hennessy, B.A., is appended.

"About 3 years ago I searched the Register for the Baptism of John Allingham, which took place in 1797, & I could not find it. In 1835 the Father of John Allingham came to have the books searched for the register of his son's Baptism. I searched again carefully but could not find it. The Father, however, stated the date so exactly that I was induced to look over an old foul book which the clerk kept before I was Rector, & which I had taken from him & had kept carefully in the Register chest, & there I found that the Baptism of John Allingham took place the very day the Father mentioned, & I also found the Baptism of another person on Jany 12, which is left out in the Register; these two I enter here from the foul book in the presence of two witnesses this 27 day of January 1835.—Gerrard Thos Andrewes, Rector.

1797 Jan. 12 Charlotte Joanna Daughter of Samuel and Charlotte Sampson, Born Aug. 22, 1796, was baptised January 12, 1797

Feb. 26 John son of William & Hannah Allingham, born Feby 8, was baptised 26

"In May 1838 I found that the following had been omitted to be entered from the foul book:—

James Habgood son of James & Elizabeth Thomas Habgood, born Dec. 21, 1797, baptized March 28, 1799

Elizabeth Perkins daughter of James & Elizabeth Thomas Habgood, born 22 Feb^y, was baptized March 28, 1799

THE Registers of the Parish of Saint John the Evangelist, Friday Street, are contained in the following volumes:—

The additional information contained in the "foul" book has been inserted in italic type under their respective headings, and will, in many cases, prove useful in making the Register more complete.

The following description and particulars of the Church have been compiled by E. J. Trustram, Esq., M.A., Vestry Clerk and Clerk to the Trustees of the United Parishes of St. Mary le Bow, St. Pancras le Soper, All Hallows, Honey Lane, All Hallows, Bread Street, and St. John the Evangelist:—

ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST.

The Parish of St. John the Evangelist comprises part of Watling Street (north side 83 to 91 and south side 13 to 15), and includes part of

* There is a foul book which contains:—
Baptisms, 15 Jan. 1789 to 15 Oct. 1820.
Burials, 6 Feb. 1789 to 22 Oct. 1820.

Friday Street. The Parish is the smallest in the City, and comprises eight-tenths of an acre. The population in 1811 was 118, and in 1821 86. In 1891 there were only three houses inhabited in the parish. In 1881 the sleeping population was 5, in 1891 18, and in 1896 17. At the present time (1912) there are about 20 voters in the parish on the Parliamentary Register for the City. Friday Street was originally the business and dwelling-place of the Fishmongers of Old London, who served Friday's market. St. John may possibly have been (although to a lesser degree than St. Peter) the titulary or patron Saint of Fishmongers. The Church was one of the 'Peculiars' in the City of London, and was thus within the jurisdiction of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and exempt from the authority of the Bishop of London. These 'Peculiars' were designated a Deanery, dating from 1308. The Church was a small edifice, and stood at the corner of Friday Street, on the east side, in Watling Street. Nothing is known of its history prior to the seventeenth century. Records shew it was burnt by fire in 1626. Stowe tells us it was repaired and beautified in the same year at the sole cost of the parish, James Barnard and Richard Malbone being the churchwardens. A gallery was subsequently built and beautified at the sole cost of a parishioner, Thomas Goodyear, Citizen and Draper. The Church had as parochial charity an annual sum of £277.

The Church was again burnt down in the Great Fire of 1666 and not rebuilt, and the Parish was united with the Parish of All Hallows, Bread Street, the Church of which was rebuilt.

The principal monuments in the old Church were:—

Of William de Avinger (or Aungre), Farrier, buried there in the 34th of Edward III. (1360).

Of John Doggett, Merchant Taylor, one of the Sheriffs, 1509.

Of Sir Christopher Askew, Draper, Mayor, 1533.

There are interesting records of wills in the Husting Rolls as follows:—

1349. John Hyngestone, who asked to be buried in the Church, his tenement in the said parish to be sold for pious uses.

1360. William de Aungre (mentioned above), Citizen and Marshal (or Farrier), was buried in the Church, to which Church and the ministers thereof he made bequests for the maintenance of chantries for the good of his soul and the souls of his wives.

1368. William Syward left bequests to the Church, of which he was a parishioner.

1370. William Passeware left bequests to same.

All records of the parish were destroyed in the Great Fire.

The extant Churchwardens' Accounts commence in 1759, and continue to 1829. There are vestry books (orders) commencing in 1705, and ; to date. There are also books of orders 1705—1812, and 37.

tion of the old burial ground still remains at the corner of Street and Friday Street, and is planted with shrubs, and forms n the midst of warehouses.

The Father however stated the date so exactly that I was induced to look over an old foul book which the clerk kept before I was Rector, & which I had taken from him & had kept carefully in the Register chest. & there I found that the Baptism of John Allingham took place the very day the Father mentioned. & I also found the Baptism of another person on Jany 12, which is left out in the Register. These two I enter here from the foul book, in the presence of two witnesses, this 27 day of January 1835.
